Conference title: Cultural Identity in the Digital Era

Time and place: 3rd and 4th of April 2014 in Zenica

Organizer: Faculty of Philosophy, University of Zenica

Conference level: International

Motivation: Social needs, ongoing research work

Feasibility of the Conference

The time of the digital era in the second decade of the 21st century produces scientific and technological achievements that allow the development of research work and education in a new and creative way. Such situation gives a rise to the perception of the achieved level of development, as well as research in certain scientific areas, which are particularly important for the upbringing and education of the present and future generations for the time and circumstances in which they will live and work productively, thus contributing to the development of science and society as a whole. Therefore, the implementation of new knowledge is a priority task at all levels of education.

Motivated by such needs for further improvement of upbringing and education in line with new scientific developments and further researches and studies of individual scientific disciplines pertaining to educate the young generations for digital ambience of their work and life, Faculty of Philosophy of the University of Zenica organizes Fifth Research and Expert Conference on Education entitled Cultural Identity in the Digital Era. At this meeting of scientists and experts there will be the presentation of positive scientific developments and the experiences gained so far in certain forms of education, as well as considerations of the status of humanities scholars, in accordance with the UNESCO Recommendations on the Status of Scientific Researchers, which have been made 40 years ago (1974) and with The European Charter for Researchers. This is how the Conference will contribute to the presentation of new scientific knowledge and research results, as well as introduction of innovations and creative education at all levels of upbringing and education within the European context and educational framework. The objective of becoming part of European scientific and educational institutions, inclusion in the European cultural identity, in European culture of memory, is shared by the countries of the South Slavic area, among which is Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The Aim of the Conference

Fifth Research and Expert Conference on Education entitled Cultural Identity in the Digital Era will perceive the achieved level of scientific disciplines and various professions, which have an immediate reflection on democracy and civil society in the digital era, that is on the successful achievement of early upbringing and education, educators of first, second and third cycle of education.
